The Fire-Masters
GIVE NOTICE,

THAT in consequence of the great neglect of many of the inhabitants of Charles-Town, in providing buckets and ladders, keeping their chimnies clean swept, and of observing many other directions required by the laws now in force, wherein the safety and interest of the whole community are so nearly concerned; they are determined to carry the said laws strictly into execution, and on Tuesday the 2nd day of December, will examine all the houses in Charles-Town.

The great quantities of hemp, oakum, and other dangerous articles which are now often lodged in cellars and other places, requires the strictest care and attention, if through necessity, lights are at any time carried into such cellars, &c.

It is recommended, that all house keepers should provide new ladders every third year, and examine frequently their strength and sufficiency, as they are often found so much decayed and rotten, they are not only rendered useless, but also the lives and limbs of those who mount them in times of fire, are greatly endangered.

It is further recommended, and much wished for, that every family would hang out at least one light in a lanthorn, in times of fire, whereby those who go to the assistance of the unhappy sufferers will not only see their way better in removing goods to a place of safety, but it also may be the means of preventing thefts. And all house keepers are required and enjoined to be more ready in delivering out their buckets in times of fire.

GABRIEL MANIGAULT,
BENJAMIN SMITH,
THOMAS SMITH,
DAVID DEAS,
GEORGE SHEED,
Fire-Masters.

And in order that no one may plead ignorance of the laws referred to, the following abstracts are published for their information, which the fire-masters request all persons concern'd strictly to observe.

It is enacted, that no person or persons whatsoever in Charles-Town, shall be permitted to keep any straw or hay in his, her, or their dwelling house, or kitchen, or out house, that is joining to his, her, or their dwelling house, on the penalty of the forfeiture of ten pounds for every such offence.

It is enacted, that every owner or tenant of every dwelling house in Charles-Town, shall provide a leathern bucket of six quarts at least, for every fire-hearth in such dwelling house, one fourth part of the whole to be sent to the managers of the fire-engines; they are also to provide one ladder, of a convenient length for each dwelling-house; Which buckets and ladders are to be always ready in case of fire, on pain of forfeiting the sum of ten pounds; also a penalty of thirty shillings for every bucket withheld, or refused in time of fire, and if any buckets shall be lost at such time, the fire-masters are to supply the owners with others in the room of them.

The charge of providing buckets and ladders is to borne and paid by the landlords and owners of houses; but as the said charges may be often paid by the tenant in possession, who is made liable in case of neglect, it is lawful for such tenant, to deduct so much out of his rent as shall be from time to time expended in providing buckets and ladders.

It shall be lawful for the fire-masters to enter into the houses, out-houses, stables and yards, of every owner or tenant, to inquire if they are provided with buckets and ladders; and also to view, search and examine, if any quantity of hay, straw, pitch, tar, rosin, turpentine, oil, tallow, sulphurous or combustible matters are lodged in any place within the same, which may be in danger of taking fire; and if they find there is danger, it is lawful for them, after having admonished the owner of such house or houses, to remove such combustible matter (in case of refusing or neglecting to remove the same) at the charge of the owner. All persons who shall suffer their chimnies to take fire, and blaze out at the top, shall forfeit the sum of five pounds.

Upon any alarm in the night time, every inhabitant is to repair to the place where the fire is, with his arms, under the penalty of forty shillings, and shall lodge them in such places, near the fire, as shall be appointed by the fire-masters, and the commander of the watch is to order a party of the watch to guard the same. All goods and effects removed, are directed to be carried to the place where the arms are directed to be lodged and guarded. The constables are to appear with their staves, and assist in guarding the said goods and effects, 'till removed to some other place of safety, under the penalty of five pounds. Any person that embezzles any goods or effects, are to be pilloried, have their ears cut off, and forfeit four times the value thereof.

The fire-masters are empowered to command any person or persons whatever, to aid and assist in pulling down houses or buildings, for extinguishing of fires, to the utmost of their strength, power and ability; and in case of refusal, if a white person he shall forfeit five pounds, and if a slave, he shall be publicly whipped. All persons who shall do or execute any thing in obedience to the fire masters, are indemnified against all persons whatsoever.

Remarkable or considerable services, in preventing or extinguishing fires, are to be rewarded by the fire-masters; and in case any person shall be wounded, maimed, or disabled, in endeavouring to prevent or extinguish fire, a reasonable allowance, maintenance, or provision will be made for such persons.

The masters or managers of the engines, may command any person or persons whatsoever, that shall be nearest at hand, when any fire breaks out to aid and assist in conveying the engine to the place where the fire shall be. A white person refusing shall forfeit forty shillings, and a slave to be publickly whipped. A reward of forty shilling to every white person, and twenty shillings to every slave, to be paid to those who carry the first engine to the place where the fire breaks out.

London Advices.

AUGUST 20.

THEY write from Paris, that the governors of all the sea-ports in the South of France had received strict orders to prevent the embarkation of his Majesty's subjects, whether labourers or artificers, on board any foreign ships, as the court had received information, that great numbers were preparing to leave that kingdom, to go and settle in North-America.

They write from Minorca, that that island has almost been doubled in the number of its inhabitants, since its last accession to the Crown of Great-Britain.

They write from Quebec, that father Rabo, a learned Jesuit, had just returned from a second expedition to the Lake Superior, in which he had traced the course of a great river some hundred leagues West and by North, which there was great reason to conjecture penetrated to the South Sea.

AUGUST 21.

Letters from Paris are full of the resolutions of the parliament of Paris against the whole body of Jesuits, for totally depriving them of their privileges and prerogatives, and banishing them out of the kingdom for ever.

AUGUST 22.

It has been observed, that since the accession of his present majesty there have been seven lord lieutenants of Ireland,

The Duke of Bedford,
The Earl of Halifax,
The Earl of Northumberland,
Lord Viscount Weymouth,
The Earl of Hertford,
The Earl of Bristol,
Lord Viscount Townshend.

Of the above noblemen, there were no left than four successively in that government, in little more than the space of a single year, from the middle of May, 1765, to the latter end of July, 1766, viz. lord Northumberland, lord Weymouth, lord Hertford, and lord Bristol.

AUGUST 24.

Several of the Dublin corporations, or companies, we are told, at riding of the franchises in that city on the 4th inst. did not attend the Lord Mayor, on account of the treatment which a memorial of the common-council lately received, recommending the great expediency of septennial parliaments.

AUGUST 25.

Orders are given for a general survey to be made of all the antient fortresses in Scotland, and a report to be made of the state thereof.

The Senate of Venice have issued a decree, couched in the following terms: "The council, alarmed at certain objects of the last importance, and the mischievious effects resulting therefrom, expressly order the Jesuits and all regular priests no longer to perform their missions either in this capital or in any part of the state of Venice, nor to receive any persons into their oratories, chambers, cells, or other retired places, under pretence of exercises, as they have done of late, but to keep to the manner of preaching antiently established, in open churches, where all christians will be permitted to assist, provided they do it publickly, and have no privacies or secrets."

St. James's, August 26. His Majesty in council was this day pleased to order, that the parliament, which stands prorogued to Monday the thirty first of this instant August, should be further prorogued to Wednesday the 7th day of October next.

Letters from Civita-Vecchia advise, that two thousand Corsicans had seized on the Capuchin convent, situated within musket-shot of Calvi, (which, since the departure of the French, is garrisoned by 150 Genoese troops) and were erecting a battery there.

AUGUST 27.

A letter from Paris, dated August 7, says, "The question agitated here for two years past, relating to the liberty or the prohibition of foreign commerce in our colonies, has lately been finally determined in a council of the king at Compeigne. The letters-patent of 1727, respecting the prohibitive laws, are confirmed, notwithstanding which, two free ports are established, one at St. Lucia for the windward islands, and the other at St. Nicholas for the Leeward islands, whither strangers may not only resort and import ship timber, and certain other goods, but liberty is given for the purchase of whatever staple commodities the colonists may bring thither. It is also agreed that the duty of ten livres per head for each negro, and the duties on the cod-fish, shall be suppressed; and that the produce of America imported into France in return for negroes shall pay but half the usual duties."

We are informed from good authority, that John Wilkes, Esq; intends offering himself a candidate to represent this city in parliament at the ensuing general election.

The following altercation lately happened between a brewer's lady and a female Quaker. Brewer's lady. Pray Madam, do you know what you talk to in this here manner?——Quaker. I know thee when thou didst sell beer by the pot, and thou didst also know me and thy neighbours; but now thou sellest beer by the butt, thou knowest neither thy old acquaintance nor thyself.

Yesterday morning the lord-Chancellor came to his house in Lincoln's-inn-fields, from Camden-place; and, after being at court, and assisting at a Privy-council at the right hon. Mr. Secretary Conway's office, in Cleveland-row, his lordship dined at his grace the duke of Grafton's.

Letters from Paris say, that there are certain circumstances which plainly prove that the court is displeased with the Senate of Genoa; although the cause of the embargo is not yet publickly known.

AUGUST 29.

Some letters from Naples mention, that the Jews, by an order of state, are expelled from that city, being charged with encouraging robberies, by buying stolen goods.

They write from Paris, that an ingenious mechanic had invented a machine, for raising the heaviest stones to the top of the highest buildings, which can with ease be worked by a single person.

At a very numerous meeting at Warwick, of many of the nobility, gentry, land-owners, and manufacturers, on Tuesday of the assizes (the right hon. the earl of Warwick being in the chair) it was unanimously agreed, that a navigable canal from the city of Coventry, by Nuneaton, Atherstone, and Tamworth, to Fradley heath, near Litchfield in Staffordshire, there to communicate with the navigation now conducting under the direction of Mr. Brindley, would be greatly advantageous to the public, and that application should be made to parliament next sessions, to carry into execution this design. It was also agreed, that a survey should be taken in order to a determination upon the practicability of a navigable canal from Coventry by Warwick to Stratford, there to communicate with the navigation of the river Avon. The consideration of the projected branch from Coventry, through the vale of Charwell to the Thames, was postponed for the present.

A letter from Scotland mentions, that in the great cause between the Hamiltons and Douglas, a reclaiming petition is preparing on the part of Douglas, to be presented to the court of Session at their first meeting in November. By the constitution of their court, after judgment is given, either party may petition or reclaim against such judgment, provided they advance new matters of law or fact. If such is advanced, the other party is allowed to answer, and the court then determines. It is well known, in many instances, that the court, on such reclaiming bills, have altered their first opinion. From this circumstance it is probable this great cause will not come before the house of peers.

We hear that his excellency the lord lieutenant of Ireland will have the absolute disposal of all offices in that kingdom.

We hear that the opinion of one of the greatest sages of the law of England is in favour of the defendant in the famous cause of Hamilton & Douglas, & that he will support the fame if it should come before a most august assembly. It is said that it was on this account, that among several wagers now depending on the final issue of this cause, one of a thousand guineas has been laid to so many shillings, that it will be given in favour of Mr. Douglas.

We are told that the dissentions among the great are now less likely than ever to be removed; and it is added, that the political flock will certainly be under the Gentle Shepherd's care before the meeting of the parliament.

Mr. Joseph Reed, author of the tragedy of Dido, and the farce of the Register-office, has finished an English opera called Tom Jones; and we hear it is to be brought out next season at Drury-lane theatre.

We are credibly informed that the court of Portugal has agreed with the Emperor of Morocco, and concluded a treaty of peace, on paying 600,000 hard dollars, and 15,000 per annum; and with the Algerines also 500,000, and to give liberty to all the slaves or both parties.

His majesty has appointed John Randolph, Esq; to be attorney-general and commissary of the court of vice-admiralty in Virginia.

Archibald Campbell Fraser, Esq; appointed his Britannick majesty's consul at Algier, is now at Portsmouth, in order to sail thither as soon as possible.

A celebrated exile, we hear, lately wrote a very affecting letter (relative to his safe and present situation) to a great English personage then at Paris; and we are told that it was most graciously received. It is rumoured that it was followed by a private audience.

A once celebrated commoner, who is now ennobled, being lately applied to form a new administration, answered very peremptorily, that government was to expect no assistance from him for the future. [The late C. T.]

It is thought if a certain pepper-corn financier is restored to office, the American wounds, which are now beginning to be skinned over, will be opened to a wider degree than at any period since the first establishment of our colonies.

We hear that a noble lord, well known for his great knowledge in money matters, was among other people desired to give his assistance to form a new ministry; but he forcibly excused himself with saying, that he knew himself obnoxious to the public, and that of consequence no plan could be approved that was figmatized with his recommendation.

AUGUST 31.

It is the opinion of the shrewd speculators, that the present ministry continues in their places, not on the low principle, which has been suggested by faction, of a fondness for the emoluments of office, but merely for the sake of a curious experiment in politics; by which that science may be very much, and very usefully improved. They have a curiosity to try, at their own expence, how far an administration may be supported by the sole power of the court, against all the great interests of the kingdom.

Edinburgh, Sept. 1. We hear from Perthshire, that an uncommon phenomenon was observed over the water of Ilk, near Cupar Angus, preceded by a thick dark smoke, which soon dispelled, and discovered a large luminous body, like a house on fire, but presently after took a form something pyramidal, and rolled forwards with impetuosity till it came to the water of Erick, up which river it took its direction, with great rapidity, and disappeared a little above Blairgowrie. The effects were as extraordinary as the appearance. In its passage, it carried a large cart many yards over a field of grass, a man riding along the high road was carried from his horse, and so stunned with the fall, as to remain insensible a considerable time. It destroyed one half of a house, and left the other behind, undermined and destroyed an arch of the new bridge building at Blairgowrie, after which it disappeared. So few appearances of this kind ever were attended with like consequences, various conjectures have been formed concerning it.

SEPTEMBER 2.

We hear that the secretaryship of Ireland, was refused by a certain friend [C—. J——n] of the earl of B—e, though an employment of greater emolument than his present; because, if he had accepted it, an important board would have been lift without any pension, upon whom his lordship could so entirely depend.

This day was married by special licence, at her Royal Highness the Princess Pomatowski's house in St. James's street, Ralph Payne, Esq; of Conduit-street, a West-India gentleman of great fortune, to the hon. Miss Calabelle, companion to her Royal Highness, and one of the maids of honour to her Imperial Majesty the Empress-Queen.

Edinburgh, August 25. We are informed from the island of Ilf., that in working the lead mines there, a vein of seven feet thick has been lately discovered, which is almost double the bulk of any vein yet discovered in Scotland, and by all appearances the greatest success may be expected.

SEPTEMBER 3.

Yesterday Capt. Peter Dennis, commander of the Royal Charlotte, had the honour to be presented to his majesty, on his being created a baronet.

Large orders are now executing in the clothing countries for a particular kind of coarse manufacture, to be shipped for the Russian market, said to be intended for clothing the Empress's troops.

Sunday died, aged near 100, at his house at Greenwich, Bowater Twyford, Esq; who had been a commander in the royal navy in the reigns of Queen Anne and King George the first.

Early yesterday morning was married at St. George's church, Hanover square, the right hon. Lord Adam Gordon, colonel of his majesty's 66th regiment of foot, and member of parliament for the county of Aberdeen, to her grace Jane Dutchess Dowager of Athol; and soon after they set out for his lordship's house at Hunsdon in Hertfordshire.

His majesty has been pleased to appoint the right hon. William Spry, Esq; judge of all America, to be Vice-Admiral of the island of Barbados, in the room of governor Pinfold, who has resigned.

SEPTEMBER 8.

We hear that an express is arrived with an account, that the island of Segovia, the principal of the Philippine isles, has been entirely destroyed by an earthquake, except about 100 houses.

SEPTEMBER 10.

His majesty has been pleased to appoint John Eliot, Esq; to be vice-admiral of West Florida; in the room of John Johnstone, Esq; who has resigned.

We hear from Edinburgh, that the government have given orders for a quantity of new cannon to be cast at the manufactory of Carron-water, for the use of his majesty's forts and garrisons in North-Britain.

SEPTEMBER 12.

Extract of a letter from Burham, in Staffordshire, Sept. 5.

"Though our stone ware has been universally used, yet, till our turnpikes were made, few people ever saw our manufactories. But now they are gazed at as a novelty. The ladies go to Wedgwood's to buy the Queen's set of cream-coloured ware; and the gentlemen come to view our eighth wonder of the world, the subterranean navigation, which is cutting by the great Mr. Brindley, who handles rocks as easily as you would plumb-pyes, and makes the four elements subservient to his will. He is an plain looking man as one of the boors of the Peak or one of his own carters; but when he speaks, all ears listen, and every mind is filled with wonder at the things he pronounces to be practicable. He has cut a mile through bogs, which he binds up, embanking them with the stones which he gets out of other parts of the navigation, besides about a quarter of a mile into the hill Yeldon upon the side of which he has a pump, which is worked by water, and a stove, the fire of which sucks through a pipe the damps that would annoy the men, who are cutting towards the center of the hill. The clay he cuts out, serves for brick to arch the subterraneous part, which we heartily wish to see finished to Wilden ferry, when we shall be able to send coals and pots to London, and to different parts of the globe.

"P. S. Another mile is cut on the Cheshire side of the hill, and the men intend to meet in the middle by Christmas, when they are to have an ox roasted whole, and an hogshead of ale."

SEPTEMBER 15.

The following is said to be a fact. At a general meeting held at W—— in the county of C——, to nominate proper persons to represent that county in the next parliament, a poor man belonging to the workhouse killed himself with eating and drinking, the publick house in town being opened to all comers. This coming to the ears of a learned attorney, he, with an oath, demanded what the master of the workhouse was doing, that he did not let every one of the poor out, there being (he observed) meat and drink enough in town to have killed them all, which would have eased the town of them.

On Saturday last about noon was found dead in his bed, at his house in Old-street, Malachi Postlethwayt, Esq; author of the universal dictionary of trade and commerce.

Yesterday a great council was held at Mr. Secretary Conway's office in Cleveland-row, St. James's, at which most of the great officers of state assisted.

According to some letters from Constantinople, the Tartars seem not to be satisfied with the new Cham which the Porte had given them.

Extract of a letter from Dunkirk, August 27.

"The French are repairing their fortifications, and building a bridge over the harbour. Morgan, the highwayman, is just set out for Boulogne on a visit; and the famous Mrs. Ogilvie is forty miles from hence, in a convent. Rogues are daily arriving! In short, this is what I call an asylum."

Foreign Intelligence.

Warsaw, August 5. The first instr. the prince de Radzivil deputed to the commissaries of war and treasury, the waiwode of Podlachia, to acquaint them that they should take the oath of fidelity to the king and the confederacy, in the following form; first, that they should be faithful to the king and the confederates; secondly, that they would support and protect the Roman Catholick religion, and the liberty and privileges of both religions; thirdly, that they would not hold any secret or suspected correspondence by letters; and fourthly, that they would not resign their employments. Some of them took the oath to the king and the general confederacy nearly in the form prescribed, but others would not do it, and demanded their dismission. The same day the prince de Radzivil had an audience of the king.

Leghorn, August 12. The following edict has been published in Corsica:

"You are well apprized, dear people, that our nation has no enemy but the republick of Genoa, and that it is with her only we are at war. The departure of the troops of his most Christian Majesty offers us a very favourable opportunity of further establishing that liberty we so much value. This is our precious moment wherein our zeal and courage should be shewn. The people of Civi continue the firmest resolution of acting for the common welfare; and if you will sustain this resolution by your courage, we may answer for the happy success of our enterprizes.

"Mean while, in endeavouring for the good of our country to animate your courage, it is our intention, that in the present circumstances the sincerest marks of respect be shewn by the nation towards the arms of their most Christian and Catholic Majesties, together with the high veneration we have for the Company of St. Ignatius, and our compassion for their misfortunes.

"It is therefore our order and will, that, under pain of death, no person use any hostility against the nations above-mentioned; and it is our express order, that the Fathers of the Company of Jesus be well received, and furnished with all possible assistance, as being worthy of attention. We flatter ourselves, beloved people, that you will behave conformably to our just and mature resolutions, which we signify by the present edict, signed by our Chancellor, and sealed with our seal.

"Given at the Capuchin Convent,
July 15, 1767. (Signed)
JOHN ANTHONI ORTICONI, Chancellor."

Thorn, August 17. There exists, it's true, a sort of correspondence between the Dissidents and the general confederacy of Malecontents, but it is not so great or so intimate as at his former could wish it.

Warsaw, August 19. Lieutenant Nieubuhr, the only survivor of the ingenious men who were sent some years ago by the late king of Denmark into Arabia, arrived here yesterday from Constantinople.

Vienna, August 22. It is assured that the ceremony of betrothing the Archdutchess Josepha with the king of the Two Sicilies, will be performed the 5th of next month; and that the marriage will take place the 14th of October.

SOUTH-CAROLINA.

In Council, November 24th, 1767.

HIS Excellency the Governor having received complaints against several of the magistrates in the back country, the same were taken into consideration, and it appearing that William Wofford, and Abraham Cartadine had very much misbehaved as magistrates, their names were struck out of the commission of the peace, as also, was the name of John Tinckler, who was removed out of the province.
